Category: USB Category: Software Category: Software toolsQ: merge dataframes using column of list I have following problem: I have two dataframes and want to merge the two dataframes according to the list. This is the list: dfList = [a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, k, l, m] I would like to merge the dataframes with the column "dfList" based on the condition that the value of the column dfList is different from the other dataframe, then the first dataframe takes all the other columns. I can't wrap my head around it.

A: Is there a more direct and easier way than using a loop to merge two dataframes? df1 = dfList[0] df2 = dfList[1:]

df.append(df1, ignore_index=True) df.append(df2, ignore_index=True) Optimization of molecularly imprinted polymers for solid-phase extraction of sulfonamides residues in water. A molecularly imprinted polymer (MIP) with sulfamethoxazole (SMX) as template for solid-phase extraction (SPE) using a new technique has been prepared by suspension polymerization. The influence of synthesis conditions on the MIP molecular properties, such as physical structure, recognition efficiency, selectivity and stability, were investigated and optimized. A washing protocol and a graphite carbon coupled with high-performance liquid chromatography (GC-CP) method were employed to separate SMX. Validation experiments were carried out for the analysis of SMX in drinking water. The method is linear in the range 10-1000 ng mL<sup>-1</sup> ( $r(2) > 0.991$ ), the limit of detection is 5 ng mL<sup>-1</sup> and the relative standard deviation (RSD) was 7%. The recoveries at fortified levels of 100, 500, 1500 and 2000 ng mL<sup>-1</sup> were in the range of 81-119% for tap water samples. The optimized MIP has high affinity for SMX, and the molecular recognition effect was specific. The MIP can be used at least 10 times.Q: No file found when I specify full directory path I have a powershell script that I run on a central server that will create csv files for
